SPRING'S RUBAIYAT.

Come, shoot the dope, and in the fire of spring
Lay on McDuff and let the echoes ring;
The Winter League has but a little way
To flutter and the bat is on the wing.

I sometimes think that never blooms so red
The dope as when each team has southward aped;
And every youngster that the Bushes good
Comes up with laurel on his clammy head.

Ah, bug, old dog, they all look good in spring;
The Turn is there, the batting eye, the wing;
But when the showdown comes, who answers then?
Sans speed, sans curves—alack, sans everything.

THE MASON LUMBER CO.,
MAYSVILLE, KY.

Third Street M. E. Church

REV. H. H. COMPTON.

Revival services began very auspiciously yesterday at this Church. A large congregation attended the evening service. The Rev. H. H. Compton, who is to assist in the meetings, arrived during the afternoon and preached a very earnest and heart-searching sermon from the subject
"The Divine Pattern." He pleaded with the Church, if it had neglected its opportunities and means of grace; if the high ideal of their best experience in the Christian life had become obscured because of worldliness, that at the very beginning of these meetings they strive to return to their former high ideals.

The speaker was heard very attentively by the large congregation. He has won his way into the hearts of the people at the first service.

The singing was especially fine. A male quartet led by Mr. Edgar B. Parrette, recently from England, who is visiting his cousin, Mr.
W. F. Thomas, sang two selections, which were very impressive. Mr. Parrette has the richest tenor voice heard in Maysville in years.
It was a genuine treat to hear him. Another quartet by the Misses Douglas, Rev. Overly and Mr. Richardson added greatly to the inspiration of the service.

The meeting will continue every evening, beginning at 7 o'clock. Song services preceding each service. Rev. Compton will preach. Come and hear him. You will be pleased with his message and helped in your better life.

Come Out Tuesday Night and Help Put M. B. M. Club on Its Feet

The Business Men's Club of Maysville was organized about one year since, and for some reason the business men of the city have not shown the interest in it that the movement deserves.

There is much in connection with this organization that needs attention and discussion, and a meeting of the Club is called for tomorrow, Tuesday night, at the Council Chamber.

Will not every business man in Maysville come out and bring some one else with him? It is expected at this meeting that a better organization will be effected, and if there is not enough interest shown then the idea of getting together should be abandoned.

There is about $500 in the treasury of this Club. Shall this be returned to the membership, or shall it remain as a nucleus around which to build better and stronger and thereby put the citizenship of Maysville on record as being for a bigger and better Maysville?

Mr. Business Man, are you content to pursue your own course, as has been done, or shall there be a united effort and thereby accomplish great and lasting results for this, the best community on earth?

Remember the date, Tuesday evening, March 12th, at 7:30 o'clock.

Satins of Quality 49c to $1 Yard

Their name is legion. Chiffon satin, meteor, Char-buy here for 59c to $1 yard.

Foulards 49c to $1.50 Yard

Other silks come and go at Fashion's ruling but foulard remains. It has developed from a strictly warm weather indoor silk to all-the-year-indoor-and-outdoor use. It will stand wear and hard usage beyond most silks, it requires little trimming, it is cool and it is inexpensive. Little wonder with so much to recommend it, women refuse to give it up. Be sure to see the attractive and varied line we offer.

Despondent on account of ill health,
John Lane, aged 74, one of Mason county's highly respected and well-today afternoon about 3:30 o'clock at his home in Washington by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver.

He was born in Ireland, but had spent the greater portion of his life in this county, where by honest toil and frugality he accumulated quite a little fortune.

His wife preceded him to the grave some years ago. He is survived by several children.

Negro Shot Dead by

Section Foreman

Samuel Vinson of Fort Gay, W. Va., foreman of a C. and O. Railroad construction gang, shot and instantly killed Robert Miller, a Negro employe, yesterday morning near Springdale.

Miller accused Vinson of withholding some of his pay and threatened to "do" him. The Negro followed Vinson to his office and started to take hold of him when Vinson pulled a revolver and shot him.

Vinson was arrested by Coroner Slack and brought to this city. The Coroner will hold an inquest today.

MAN LOST AMBITION

It seems strange to so active and energetic a young man as Arthur H. Scott of Brooklyn that he did not attack his work with the usual enthusiasm last spring.

He knew it was not "spring fever," for his health failed, and, to use his own words in a recent letter, "I could not sleep, had no energy or ambition and could not do my work properly."

"I must say that Vinol has done me wonderful good, for I feel strong and ambitious again, just like I used to before my health failed. I rest well at night, have a good appetite and no more nervousness, all because I took your excellent tonic, Vinol.

One reason Mr. Scott was willing to try Vinol was because he knew he could get his money back if Vinol did not benefit him. This delicious cod liver and iron remedy without oil positively has no equal as a spring medicine to enrich the blood and make weak, worn-out men, women and children rugged, rosy and strong. We guarantee it to do this and give back your money if it does not. John C. Peacor Druggist, Maysville, Ky.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

Do you think the colonel injured his country by making Taft his successor.

It would be convenient if the recall could also be extended to decisions in letters.—Pittsburgh Gazette Times.

SOME of the people who are climbing into the Roosevelt band wagon are doing it because there is no other place for them to go.—Philadelphia Press.

THE feud between ROOSEVELT and TAFT has now reached the stage that they are throwing bricks at each other. And the poor old elephant is sorely troubled to know who is his keeper.—Buffalo Courier.

"The president could wreck the whole game of third-term intrigue in a single speech," declares The New York World "if he would stand up and tell the frank, brutal truth about the ROOSEVELT conspiracy against his administration."

New evidences of crookedness in business, and of political corruption arise in this country from time to time in such numbers and with such frequency as to test optimism to its very core, at the same time prompting the pessimists to repeat their oft-uttered declaration that the country is going to the dogs.

But bad as the situation sometimes seems to be there has been a real betterment since the time, five or six years ago, when America waked up to the dangers confronting her and buckled on her moral armor to battle with evil.

If there is a good judge of present conditions it is WILLIAM J. BURNS, whose detective work within recent years has given him a nation-wide, even a world-wide fame. In Cincinnati a few days ago Mr. BURNS made the positive statement that the United States "is a thousand per cent better than it was five years ago, mainly because the people are driving out" the dealers in corruption of all kinds.

In connection with this reassuring statement from a man in position to speak with authority The Blade is reminded of the existence of an Optimist's league in the East and of some of the reasons its publicity promoters give why country-wide optimism should prevail in spite of opposing evidence.

This league reminds us that "some 10,000 bank cashiers have worked faithfully and honestly for periods ranging from a decade to a quarter century; that 20,000,000 married couples did not seek divorces last year; that 80,000,000 people in this country have not yet committed suicide; that about every week 10,000,000 people ride on railway trains and escape injury."

This is a very partial list of facts to take courage over. It could be strikingly enlarged. Every day there is new cause for joining some optimist's league.

One of the very latest reasons was furnished Tuesday by Ohio's constitutional convention, when it adopted a proposal which assures another long step forward in the curtailment of the colossal saloon evils.—Portsmouth

ALL accounts from England agree that as food grows dearer employment grows scarcer.

Perhaps T. R. would have the Ten Commandments revised by a vote of the people.—Detroit Free Press.

WHAT Canada gained or lost through the rejection of reciprocity with the United States, is to be the subject of an investigation by a special committee of the Canadian Senate.

THE population of Australia, which is now 4,455,000, shows a gain of only 68,000 in ten years. Restriction of immigration and incessant labor troubles are responsible for this small increase.

THE Ohio Constitutional Convention is wrestling with 118 proposed amendments, which include all the radical measures bearing the label of "reform" which have been put forth during the last ten years. There may be some of merit, but probably the most of them might well be consigned to the waste basket.

If Senator Dixon of Montana had an ounce of the saving sense of humor he would perceive that his bombast about a "nationwide movement" and an "overwhelming demand" for ROOSEVELT is only calculated to make people laugh by emphasizing the enormous disparity between Mr. ROOSEVELT'S anticipations and the pitiful result.

Roosevelts Tragic Blunder.

The colonel's ill starred "hat throwing" performance has very palpably fallen flat. The anti-climax of his carefully prepared bound into the arena is almost pathetic. He risked his entire remaining prestige on the hazard of a die, and has lost already.

If the almost universal expressions of regret and disapproval (some of them from his genuine friends, like Senator LODGE) be any criterion, there is not the slightest chance for him in the convention.

Such friends see that he has lost the grand opportunity to retrieve at a stroke his moral prestige with the country by repudiating as an insult the assumption of the anti-Taft intriguers that he would break his pledge, and play false with the friend upon whom he had heaped the warmest encomiums ever bestowed by one American public man upon another.

Before this tragic blunder of his in yielding to the tempter he could have "come back" by a brilliant stroke of his own principle of the "square deal" that would have electrified the country and made even the skeptical doff their hats to him. But now—

"Not all the king's horses.
Nor all the king's men,
Could set Humpty Dumpty up again."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Everything is based on selfishness, talk as much as you please about higher principles.

It must require a good deal of nerve for a man to decide that he is the most suitable man for President of the United States, and that he can get the office.

His Cry for Help

By Claudine Sisson

Gordon Ascott had come up to Duck bay from the city for the shooting. The shooting consisted of whatever could be shot. Sometimes it was a wild goose or duck—sometimes a rabbit who was reckless enough to expose himself in the open.

Mr. Ascott was twenty-five years old and something of a philosopher. He didn't expect much in this world, and he expected nothing whatever of Duck bay. He had been told about it, and all he had been told was that it was a wild goose or duck—sometimes a rabbit who was reckless enough to expose himself in the open.

The matter of romance didn't trouble Mr. Ascott in the least. If he got a duck he would have it roasted in the larder; if he didn't he would eat the landlord's veal cutlets. He had been in this state of mind for three days, and hadn't even seen a duck, when he thought to go further afield. The innkeeper recommended a spot two miles away where wild fowl sometimes disappeared themselves, and the hunter set out for it.

Duck bay was a mile and a half from the railroad, and the hunter was therefore surprised to stumble upon an iron track in the contrary direction. Yes, there were the road-bed and the ties and rails, and he spent a long five minutes wondering where the line went to, and why he had not heard trains in that direction. The puzzle had not yet been solved when he took to the tracks and, after a walk of 200 feet came to a switch and a track leading into the bushes.

Mr. Ascott was no railroad man. He had never cared a copper about road-beds and ties and rails. He had always traveled in a Pullman, tipped the porter and let it go at that. Now, all of a sudden, this railroad bothered him and held his attention. Was it "Was it You, Calling for Help?" was the New York and Duck Bay railroad? Was it the Duck Bay and Chicago railroad? Was it the Boston and Bunker Hill and Duck Bay line?

These queries were harrowing his brain when he moved backwards and stepped into the frog of the switch with his right foot. His weight forced the foot down, and was caught in a vice. He had on long-legged rubber boots, and of course the way to get himself free was to pull his foot out of the boot. It seemed easy, but at the end of ten minutes the victim realized that it couldn't be done. He pulled and twisted and strained and swore, but he was fast—fast in a frog, and a train might be due any minute! The engineer might see him in time to stop the train, but would he stop it if he did see him? Wouldn't he come right along and run over the captive for the moral effect it would have on other tramps?

Most men prefer to drink standing, but when it comes to thinking they would rather sit down. Mr. Ascott had to stand. Moreover, he had to be very careful about his pulse. If he toppled over it would mean a broken leg, and even then the foot would not be free. For three long hours he stood up like a telegraph pole. Every minute he expected to hear the rumble of an approaching train. Time after time, he figured out how the engine would hit him, and just how his mangled remains would look as they were scattered along the track. He felt that he was a mile or more from any highway, and therefore it was hours before he began to shout. He yelled a score of times when a young lady descended to the track from a path not far distant, and after surveying him for a moment approached to ask:

"Was it you calling for help?" "It was," was the reply as Mr. Ascott started to lift his cap and then feared for his balance.

"Talked with him about New York, Boston and Chicago, though she never saw these places."

"Said yes, sir, and no, sir, to him. Scrambled his eggs for breakfast. Asked him to have a third cup of coffee."

"Been dressed up every day since. Been talking about Shakespeare and Byron."

"Talks mostly to him when we sit on the veranda."

"Hain't the same girl she was. Won't let her mother cook any more biled dinners. Says they are plebeian and vulgar."

"I am a desperate man."

"You must have been suffering all this time," said the student when the hired man was finished.

"Suffer! I'll show you how I have suffered. Listen to this. And he took the lantern down off its nail and lighted the stub of a candle and solemnly read:

"Amelia struck on the college chap, and he on her. Didn't get to sleep till an hour after midnight."

"College chap eats with a fork. I sneered at him, and Amelia gave me a nasty look."

"College chap combs his hair three times a day. Tried to joke with Amelia about it, but she wouldn't joke."

"College chap says 'thanks' when his plate or cup is handed him. I told Amelia he might be a horse thief for all that, but she said I'd better mend my own manners."

"The two were talking about a poem or something named 'Evangeline,' on the veranda last evening. I broke in to talk about hogs, and later on Amelia said it would be awfully hard to be tied to a man like me."

"Laid awake and tossed all over the bed till I heard the roosters crow. That college chap had best be ware. My loving heart is not the only one that has been driven to desperation."

"Amelia still frizzing and saying 'sir.' College chap can play the organ and sing. I said he'd better be splitting rails instead, and Amelia wouldn't speak to me for the rest of the evening. Faded girl, beware!"

"College chap is too big for me to lick, but I know where I can borrow a shotgun. It can go off by accident. I tried to press Amelia's hand last night, but she wouldn't be pressed. Never slept a wink all night."

"Amelia has told me that I snore in my sleep, and that the college chap don't. She says that snoring is vulgar. More desperation!"

"This book will be found on my person. Let it be my excuse for what I am about to do. Amelia, let thy conscience be thy punishment!"

With the ending of the record Jim blew out the candle, hung up the lantern and sat down on a bag of feed and was silent.

"Jim, did you mean to shoot me?" asked Mr. Davis.

"Yes, meant to blow you all to bits!"

"Just wait here till I come back from the house."

He went to his chamber, packed his things, wrote a short note to the farmer as to where to send the wages due him and get back to the barn without being seen. Jim hadn't moved off the bag.

"Going away?" he asked as the other entered.

"Yes."

"Did you bid Amelia good-by?"

"No."

"Didn't give her hand one long, last squeeze?"

"I didn't even see her."

"And you won't come back or write?"

"Neither."

"Then—then—" said Jim as he rose and advanced "then—"

And he kissed the college chap on the cheek and the other felt, as he headed away in the darkness, that the hired man's eyes were wet with tears.

CRITIC DEFINES WHISTLING

R. H. Schaffner, Musical Critic, Declares the Art Should Be Encouraged.

The whistler is generally regarded as a nuisance, and is suppressed if possible, but R. H. Schaffner, the distinguished musical critic, thinks the art ought to be encouraged. Mr. Schaffner confesses in his recent book that he himself whistles Brahms themes whenever he is alone. The Office Window man has never heard Mr. Schaffner whistle, but his own personal opinion is that Brahms is not adapted to whistling, being far too high-browed. The art of whistling really became lost when such tunes as "Money Musk" and the "Irish Washerwoman" passed out of common knowledge. In those old days the accomplished whistler had a trick of wobbling his tongue about in his mouth in such a way as to produce a peculiar effect of trills and harmonies that really belonged to high art. As matters are now, the attempts of an office assistant to render his favorite themes from Wagner, Dvorak, Tschalkowsky, Scharwenka and other eminent Teutonic or Slavonic composers sometimes threaten scenes of carnage and bloodshed that would put Canova to the blush if the strong hand of justice did not intervene.

An Explanation.

"Your nephew is a college graduate, isn't he?"

"Yes," confessed honest Farmer Hornbank; "but in justice to the college I'll own that he had no sense beforehand."—Woman's Home Companion.

To Raise the Amount of Money We Need!

Beginning Saturday morning, early, we shall throw upon the local market all our new Suits and Overcoats of 1912 style at such reduction in prices you will be able to save many dollars and have your clothing for years to come. You know how we sell our clothing—with the guarantee of "absolute satisfaction or your money back." We have no Suits or Overcoats worth $20 for $3.98, but we do have New Suits and Overcoats at such reductions that will raise the money at once, so come early as you can during the money-raising event. Watch our window for displays, also paper as to price. Had we an entire paper we could not tell all we wish to say.

PUBLIC LEDGER

Mrs. Charles Viceroy is quite ill with erysipelas at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Jennie Viceroy in the county.

Miss Alice Tudor of Cincinnati is here attending the bedside of her cousin, Miss Kate Blanchard, who is seriously ill at her home in East Second street.

The B. O. Club was delightfully entertained at the home of Vincent Ellis last Friday evening. Viceroy's orchestra rendered splendid music and delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. David Wadsworth has opened up in the room adjoining Dinger & Friend in Market street, where he is prepared to do electrical work of all kinds, especially house-wiring.

Met With Accident

Mrs. Abner Hord of West Fourth street met with a painful accident yesterday while visiting at the home of Mrs. John Harbeson in East Third street. She stepped backwards and fell down a stairway, receiving painful bruises about the body, but fortunately no bones were broken.

Miss Myrtle Bell

Miss Myrtle Bell died last evening at 6:40 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wilson Worthington at Mayslick, after a short illness, aged 17. Funeral tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Mayslick Christian Church, with services by Rev. C. A. Cookwell. Interment in Mayslick Cemetery.

SCHUMACHER.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schumacher are rejoicing over the arrival of a handsome eleven pound son at their home in the county.

The Paynter Amendment Upheld

The Court of Appeals of Kentucky in the case of DeAttey, guardian, vs. the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company has rendered a most important and far-reaching decision, reversing the Mason Circuit Court and upholding that the Paynter Amendment to the Employees Liability Act of Congress really amounts. The contention of the railroad was that cases brought in the State Courts, and having a diversity of citizenship, can be removed to the Federal Court the same as before the amendment. But the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, which is the first State Court of last resort in the Union to pass upon the question, says that Congress did not so intend. Hence all suits brought under this act in the State Courts of Kentucky will hereafter be tried there. Hon. A. D. Cole briefed the case for DeAttey and Cochran & Browning briefed it for the railroad.

TRANSPORTATION

Of Children Legalized by Legislature—Parents to Be Taxed

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 9th.—Superintendents of county schools got their salaries boosted, making the minimum $600, and children may be transported to school in rural districts under the House measure passed by the Senate.

The House bill which provides for a State game warden at an annual salary of $2,500 and his duties will be to conserve and preserve the birds and wild animals in this State. Non-resident hunters will be required to pay a license of $15. Each shotgun in the State will be taxed $1.

The amendments of Mr. Elder provides that no person may hunt on the land of another without a permit from the owner, whether he has a hunter's license or not, and that of Mr. Perry provides that persons may hunt on their own land or that of his neighbor provided he has permission without having to take out a hunter's license.

The House today passed the Senate congressional redistricting bill without any amendments. The first six districts are unchanged, but changes are made in the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh districts.

The Berry House measure to prohibit any minor from entering a saloon for the purpose of securing liquor under penalty of a fine of $10, passed by a vote of 24 to 7.

FRANCIS T. HORD

A Prominent Judge and Jurist Passes Away

Judge Francis T. Hord, a native of Maysville, died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Byer, in Indianapolis, Ind., aged 77.

He was a son of the late Francis T. Hord, who was a prominent attorney at the Mason Bar for fifty years. He read law under his father and commenced practice in Indiana, where he won honor and distinction, being elected Judge of his district.

In later years he moved to Indianapolis where he attained prominence as an Attorney and Jurist. He was a brother of Mrs. Mary G. Clark and Mrs. J. B. Noyes of the Hill House.

A WORD WITH WOMEN

VALUABLE ADVICE FOR MAYSVILLE READERS

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

You can tell it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark colored, contain sediment; the passages are too frequent or scanty. Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Maysville woman's convincing statement:

Mrs. Sam Neal, 497 West Second street, Maysville, Ky., says: "Although I have never used Doan's Kidney Pills myself, I can recommend them. One of my family had a great deal of trouble from his back and kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills made him entirely better and he always praises them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Campbell and family wish to thank their neighbors and friends for the many kindnesses shown them during the illness and death of their beloved daughter and sister, Jimmie. Especially do they wish these thanks to extend to the Central Presbyterian Sunday-school and her teacher, Miss Florence Wilson and pupils for the beautiful floral offerings.

FIRE AT WINCHESTER

Incapacitates Newspaper and Destroys Shoe Store

WINCHESTER, Ky., March 9th.—In a blinding snowstorm firemen fought the flames early this morning which incapacitated the Winchester Democrat and practically destroyed the shoe stock of Hattell & Smith, in Main street. The cause of the fire is not known. The blaze started in the composing room of the Democrat.

SAID SHE WOULD FAINT

Mrs. Della Long Unable to Stand On Her Feet More Than a Few Minutes at a Time.

Pendergrass, Ga.—Mrs. Della Long, of this place, in a recent letter, says: "For five or six years, I suffered agonies with womanly troubles. Often, I couldn't sit up more than a few minutes at a time, and if I stood on my feet long, I would faint."

I took Cardui, and it helped me immediately. Now, I can do my work all the time, and don't suffer like I did. Take Cardui when you feel ill in any way—weak, tired, miserable, or under the weather. Cardui is a strength-building tonic medicine for women.

It has been found to relieve pain and distress caused by womanly troubles, and is an excellent medicine to have on hand at all times. Cardui acts on the womanly constitution, building up womanly strength, toning up the nerves, and regulating the womanly organs.

Its half century of success is due to merit. It has done good to thousands. Will you try it? It may be just what you need. Ask your druggist about Cardui. He will recommend it.

Oh how disappointed you are to see it.—Gray hairs take away that youthful appearance that you are so anxious to, and should keep,—for beauty and good looks depend so much upon natural colored, thick, glossy and healthy hair. Everyone is attracted to the woman with beautiful hair. Why not have it—get rid of the gray hairs—keep them out altogether by using HAY'S HAIR HEALTH. You'll be surprised how quickly it will restore those gray hairs to their natural color and how well it will keep them so. It is not a dye but the most satisfactory and reliable restorer.

Getting Ready for EASTER

Just think, it is only four weeks until Easter and spring will be here. Now is the time to get ready. Do your sewing now. The new goods are all in. Lovely Etamines with Band Trimmings that will make most attractive and useful dresses. Wide Flouncings of all prices and colors, beautiful and reasonable. Handsome imported embroidered Mull Dress Patterns; see them. Wide Band Trimmings of unusual beauty and cheapness. You be surprised at the 10c and 15c kinds. Long white Silk Gloves from 50c a pair up. More Kid Gloves than ever before; all sizes, colors and lengths. Laces and Embroideries of all kinds very reasonable in price. Ribbons for hat trimmings in the very latest styles. Fringes and Ball Trimmings in great variety. Prettiest Dress Gingham in the city, with bands and edges to match. Hoeflich's Hosiery is the best obtainable. Many cannot be bought elsewhere in the city. New Curtains and Curtain Goods. Rugs at attractive prices and styles exclusive. April Fashions are here.

FOR SALE FARM!

45 acres seven miles from Maysville on the Washington and Murphysville pike and known as the "Ed Mahan Farm." The improvements consist of a two-story frame house, tobacco barn and stock barn and outbuildings; all the buildings in first class repair. Fruit of all kinds. Place is well fenced and well watered. It's unusual to find a small farm with such improvements as this one has and located so well. Possession this month in plenty of time to start your spring work. Terms easy.

Price, $6,000.
